10 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

11 Congress finds the following:

12 (1) The Internet has facilitated the growth of 13 a multi-billion dollar global market for images and 14 video of children being sexually-displayed, raped, and

1 tortured, far exceeding the capacity of law enforce-
2 ment to respond at the Federal, State, and local 3 level.

4 (2) The explosion of child pornography traf-
5 ficking is claiming very young victims. Research by 6 the Department of Justice, the University of New 7 Hampshire, and the National Center for Missing
8 and Exploited Children indicates that among those 9 arrested for possession of child pornography, 83 per-10 cent have images of children 6–12 years old, 39 per-
11 cent have images of children 3–5 years old, and 19
12 percent have images of children under the age of 3
13 years old.

14 (3) The images and videos being trafficked typi-
15 cally depict sexual assaults that are both graphic
16 and brutal. The research described in paragraph (2)
17 also indicates that 80 percent of known child por-
18 nography possessors have images of children being 19 sexually penetrated and 21 percent have images de-
20 picting children bound, gagged, blindfolded, or “oth-21 erwise enduring sadistic sex.” Just one percent of 22 such possessors restricted their collecting to images
23 of simple child nudity.

24 (4) Millions of children and teens in the United 25 States are at risk from sexual predators who are

1 hunting, stalking, and luring minors online. Along 2 with the incredible access to the world offered our 3 children by the Internet, the Internet also offers the 4 world access to our children.

5 (5) The Internet Crimes Against Children Task
6 Force program (ICAC Program) of the Department
7 of Justice has identified millions of child pornog-
8 raphy transactions involving images and video of 9 child sexual assault from millions of computer IP
10 addresses worldwide.

11 (6) The ICAC Program has been highly suc-
12 cessful in creating and sustaining an emerging na-
13 tional network of 46 Federal, State, and local task
14 forces, which form the backbone of national readi-
15 ness to combat child exploitation.

16 (7) In testimony before Congress, law enforce-17 ment experts have expressed consensus that lack of 18 dedicated forensic analysis capacity is a severe prob-
19 lem at the Federal, State, and local level, severely
20 limiting the number of predators that can be inter-
21 dicted and children that can be identified and res-
22 cued.

23 (8) The Federal Bureau of Investigation,
24 United States Immigrations and Customs Enforce-
25 ment, and the United States Postal Inspection Serv-

1 ice have each developed highly specialized and suc-
2 cessful child exploitation investigative capabilities,
3 yet these agencies have testified to Congress that 4 they must triage the overwhelming number of child
5 exploitation crimes and cannot investigate a large
6 percentage of known crimes.

7 (9) Child pornography and online child entice-
8 ment crimes have among the highest conviction rates
9 of any child sexual offense, and the research funded
10 by the Department of Justice indicates that the ma-
11 jority of child pornography offenders have committed 12 or attempted direct sexual contact offenses against 13 children. Investigating and prosecuting these preda-
14 tors is one of the most concrete and measurable 15 strategies for the prevention of future child sexual 16 abuse.

17 SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

18 In this Act, the following definitions shall apply:

19 (1) CHILD EXPLOITATION.—

20 (A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in 21 subparagraph (B), the term “child exploitation”
22 means any conduct, or an attempt or conspiracy
23 to commit such conduct, constituting criminal 24 sexual abuse of a minor, sexual exploitation of 25 a minor, abusive sexual contact of a minor, sex-

usually explicit conduct with a minor, or any similar offense under Federal or State law.

(B) STATUTORY RAPE EXCEPTION.—For the purposes of subparagraph (A), the terms “sexual exploitation of a minor”, “abusive sexual contact of a minor”, and “sexually explicit conduct with a minor” shall not include consensual sexual contact or conduct between two individuals who are over the age of 16 years and under the age of 18 years.
